DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

The claim listing must commence on a separate sheet.

The Specification appears to recite a number of typographical errors. For example, on page 6, line 2, the term, "thump" is recited.

The Specification contains reference numbers for elements that are inconsistent. For example, "track color indicator 40, 41, 42'" (page 5, lines 23-24) and "indicator marks 40, 41, 42" (page 6, line 22).

The above are intended as examples only. Applicant is requested to thoroughly review the Specification and make any necessary corrections thereto wherever appropriate but not specifically pointed out.

Claim Objections

The preambles of the claims are inconsistent. The preamble of claim 1 recites "a card game scoreboard". On the other hand, the preambles of 2-9 which depend from claim 1 recite "the game scoreboard". Claim 8 recites the term "thump" in line 2. This appears to be a typographical error.

The above are intended as examples only. Applicant is requested to thoroughly review the claims and make any necessary corrections thereto wherever appropriate but not specifically pointed out.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 2, the phrase "such as" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Graham in view of Coleman, Jr.

Graham discloses a card game scoreboard comprising a body portion defining a substantially planar playing surface with three tabulation areas an informational area comprising of x number of side by side concentric tracks of peg receiving holes for tabulating the points earned by individual players or teams by moving pegs clockwise around the track; of n number of peg receiving holes per circular track separated into groups of five to facilitate counting; of x number of side by side arced tracks (series) of six peg receiving holes to indicate the number of laps gained or lost which when used in conjunction with the scoring tracks can accumulate higher scores; of x number of side by side arced tracks (series) of six peg-receiving holes to indicate the number of games won can accommodate scoring for sets of games; a base portion constructed of opaque material (page 1, line 36).

Graham discloses the claimed invention except for the tracks of peg receiving holes being arced and the number of peg-receiving holes being six.

Graham teaches on page 1, lines 94-96, that the number of peg-receiving holes may be any number.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the tracks of peg receiving holes being arced and the number of peg-receiving holes being six as taught by Graham since Graham states at page 2, lines 58-59, that such a modification would enable a certain sum to be represented.

Coleman, Jr. teaches a peg-receiving board having a plurality of peg-receiving holes arranged in tracks and formed in an arced configuration.

Art Unit: 3712

It would have been obvious to provide the tracks of peg receiving holes into an arced configuration as taught by Coleman, since such a modification would provide aesthetic appeal to the device.
